Dear Canadian Veterans,

Thank you for your willingness to defend the rights and freedoms of all Canadians. Because of your sacrifices and achievements, we are able to live in a land of peace and freedom.

Your courage offered a sense of hope to Canadians when we needed it most. It is that same desire to extend compassion that motivates us to restore dignity in Canada's most vulnerable.

The Canadian Coast Guard Auxiliary (Newfoundland & Labrador) Incorporated [CCGA (NL) Inc.] is a non-profit, volunteer organization used to augment maritime search and rescue resources in the Newfoundland and Labrador Region.

CCGA members would like to encourage all fishers to keep safety in mind at all times. Having the proper safety equipment on board and in good operating order will not prevent a disaster from happening, but knowing its location and practicing its use will greatly increase your chances of survival.

The CCGA will be celebrating 40 years of successful operation in 2018. Since the CCGA was founded in 1978, its members have been credited with participation in thousands of missions and saving countless lives. Thousands of people are helped each year in marine incidents and millions of dollars of property are saved.

The Canadian Coast Guard Auxiliary has been recognized as one of the best, safest and most cost effective volunteer marine rescue organizations in the world.

The Royal Canadian Legion mission to preserve the legacy and memory of our military men and women, and support the needs of veterans and their families. This year's edition of Lest We Forget furthers this cause and serves to remind all Canadians of the tremendous courage and bravery of those who have served. Since Confederation, more than 2.3 million Canadians have served in Canada's armed forces to defend freedom and democracy—with more than 118,000 having made the ultimate sacrifice.

As Labradorians, we have much to reflect on for many of our own brave men and women have contributed greatly to protecting the fundamental freedoms we all hold so dear as Canadians. As the Member of Parliament for Labrador, I will continue to stand strong in support of veterans for all they have given for our country.

I wish also to deeply commend the Royal Canadian Legion for the outstanding work you do raising up our veterans who deserve the utmost respect, honour and remembrance for their sacrifice is forever entrenched in who we are as Labradorians and Canadians. Lest We Forget.

COMMISSIONAIRES

TRUSTED • EVERYDAY • EVERYWHERE

Commissionaires Newfoundland and Labrador is this province's premier security services provider, offering a unique combination of integrity, experience and innovation. We have protected people, property and information for public and private sector clients for over 60 years.

Our social mandate is to provide meaningful employment to veterans of the Canadian Armed Forces, RCMP, and other Police and uniformed services as well as other Canadians interested in the security industry. All of our members are trained to the Canadian Standards Bureau national standard for security professionals, and all are fully insured and bonded for the work they do on behalf of our clients.

All of our employees are required to provide a Police Certificate of Conduct and each must obtain a Government of Canada Security Clearance through Public Works and Government Services Canada.

We pride ourselves on being responsive to our clients' needs and enjoy excellent relations with all whom we serve. Commissionaires provide security and surveillance services to federal, provincial, municipal and private contracts. Additionally, our services include Static Security Guarding, Mobile Patrols, Detention Cell Guards, Fire and Crime Scene Protection, Private Investigative Services, Threat Risk Assessments, Ink and Roll and Digital Fingerprinting, Pardons, Employee Background Checks, Education Checks, Financial Checks, Government of Canada Security Screening, and internal and external training in a wide range of areas.

A Thousand Times

When the sun comes up
Til the sun goes down
We think of you a thousand times

In a far off land where trouble lies
So very young just girls and boys
While you're on the enemy lines
We think of you a thousand times

When your Country called you had to go
Pick up your arms and fight the foe
You are so far away from home
We wish you could pick up the phone
We never know how your day will end
Another soldier another friend
While you're on the enemy lines
We think of you a thousand times

You fight and you will do your part
But you're always close within our heart
We know you've cried but you must be brave
The lives of others you try to save
While you're on the enemy line
We think of you a thousand times

Our prayers we offer up to you
And all our soldiers so brave and true
God give you courage to carry on
And keep you safe from road-side bombs
While you're on the enemy line
We think of you a thousand times

When you come back, please God you will
Soldiers proud, big boots you've filled
You fought against the Taliban
To help the people of Afghanistan
While you're on the enemy lines
We think of you a thousand times

O' Canada we stand on Guard for thee

The country the world forgot - again

By Kevin Myers, as originally published in The Telegraph on 21 April 2002

Until the deaths last week of four Canadian soldiers accidentally killed by a US warplane in Afghanistan, probably almost no one outside their home country had been aware that Canadian troops were deployed in the region. And as always, Canada will now bury its dead, just as the rest of the world as always will forget its sacrifice, just as it always forgets nearly everything Canada ever does.

It seems that Canada's historic mission is to come to the selfless aid both of its friends and of complete strangers, and then, once the crisis is over, to be well and truly ignored. Canada is the perpetual wallflower that stands on the edge of the hall, waiting for someone to come and ask her for a dance. A fire breaks out, she risks life and limb to rescue her fellow dance-goers, and suffers serious injuries. But when the hall is repaired and the dancing resumes, there is Canada, the wallflower still, while those she once helped glamorously cavort across the floor, blithely neglecting her yet again.

That is the price which Canada pays for sharing the North American Continent with the US, and for being a selfless friend of Britain in two global conflicts. For much of the 20th century, Canada was torn in two different directions: it seemed to be a part of the old world, yet had an address in the new one, and that divided identity ensured that it never fully got the gratitude it deserved.

Yet its purely voluntary contribution to the cause of freedom in two world wars was perhaps the greatest of any democracy. Almost 10 per cent of Canada's entire population of seven million people served in the armed forces during the First World War, and nearly 60,000 died. The great Allied victories of 1918 were spearheaded by Canadian troops, perhaps the most capable soldiers in the entire British order of battle.

Canada was repaid for its enormous sacrifice by downright neglect, its unique contribution to victory being absorbed into the popular memory as somehow or other the work of the "British". The Second World War provided a re-run. The Canadian navy began the war with a half dozen vessels, and ended up policing nearly half of the Atlantic against U-boat attack. More than 120 Canadian warships participated in the Normandy landings, during which 15,000 Canadian soldiers went ashore on D-Day alone. Canada finished the war with the third largest navy and the fourth largest air force in the world.

The world thanked Canada with the same sublime indifference as it had the previous time. Canadian participation in the war was acknowledged in film only if it was necessary to give an American actor a part in a campaign which the US had clearly not participated - a touching scrupulousness which, of course, Hollywood has since abandoned, as it has any notion of a separate Canadian identity.

So it is a general rule that actors and film-makers arriving in Hollywood keep their nationality - unless, that is, they are Canadian. Thus Mary Pickford, Walter Huston, Donald Sutherland, Michael J Fox, William Shatner, Norman Jewison, David Cronenberg and Dan Aykroyd have in the popular perception become American, and Christopher Plummer British.

continued ...

It is as if in the very act of becoming famous, a Canadian ceases to be Canadian, unless she is Margaret Atwood, who is as unshakeably Canadian as a moose, or Celine Dion, for whom Canada has proved quite unable to find any takers.

Moreover, Canada is every bit as querulously alert to the achievements of its sons and daughters as the rest of the world is completely unaware of them. The Canadians proudly say of themselves - and are unheard by anyone else - that 1 per cent of the world's population has provided 10 per cent of the world's peace-keeping forces. Canadian soldiers in the past half century have been the greatest peace-keepers on earth - in 39 missions on UN mandates, and six on non-UN peace-keeping duties, from Vietnam to East Timor, from Sinai to Bosnia.

Yet the only foreign engagement which has entered the popular non-Canadian imagination was the sorry affair in Somalia, in which out-of-control paratroopers murdered two Somali infiltrators. Their regiment was then disbanded in disgrace - a uniquely Canadian act of self-abasement for which, naturally, the Canadians received no international credit.

So who today in the US knows about the stoic and selfless friendship its northern neighbour has given it in Afghanistan? Rather like Cyrano de Bergerac, Canada repeatedly does honourable things for honourable motives, but instead of being thanked for it, it remains something of a figure of fun. It is the Canadian way, for which Canadians should be proud, yet such honour comes at a high cost.

This weekend four shrouds, red with blood and maple leaf, head homewards; and four more grieving Canadian families know that cost all too tragically well.

Corner Brook's Fred Alteen remembered for his business acumen, advocacy and generosity

Prominent Corner Brook businessman and Second World War veteran Fred Alteen died Saturday at age 95. - Star file photo

Gerry Bartlett had many conversations with Fred Alteen during the more than five decades they've known one another. They weren't all about business, investments, war veterans or philanthropy.

On Monday, as Bartlett contemplated the death of his longtime friend this past weekend, there was one nugget of wisdom that stood out from those numerous chats.

It was the occasion of Bartlett's retirement when Mr. Alteen told him to always have a goal in mind to accomplish every day.

"He said when you get up in the morning, make sure you have something to do, whether it's just going for a coffee or whatever," said Bartlett. "The fact you have something to do will get you out of bed." Mr. Alteen, who died Saturday at age 95, certainly made good use of his time. After serving as a radio operator and technician with the Royal Canadian Air Force in England during the Second World War, the native of Amherst, N.S. moved to Corner Brook to start the jewelry store that continues to be a staple of downtown Corner Brook's business community today.

He never really retired from the business. He was known to spend a few hours nearly every day at his office, writing in his journal and making pieces of jewelry.

His journal entries indicate his last day at the office was just two weeks ago, said his son, John Alteen.

"That was part of his social life, even if he just went down there for a couple of hours," said John.

In October 2017, Alteen Brothers Ltd., the company founded by Doug and Fred Alteen, was named the recipient of a Legacy Award at the Greater Corner Brook Board of Trade's Business Excellence Awards. The brothers employed hundreds of people throughout the years, said John.

"Working with these guys made retail a profession for some people." That commitment to work right to the end was no surprise to Bartlett. "He was mentally sharp right up until his death," said Bartlett. "He never lost that ability to make decisions, analyze stuff and be involved in things."

Mr. Alteen was a stalwart member of Branch 13 of the Royal Canadian Legion, serving numerous roles on its board of directors through the years. He even attended this year's Remembrance Day parade in cold and snowy weather, just two weeks before he died.

He was a valuable asset for local veterans as an advocate for them. Bartlett noted how Mr. Alteen often made sure veterans were aware of the services available to them through the federal Department of Veterans Affairs and was instrumental in having units dedicated to war veterans at both the former O'Connell Centre and the new long-term care facility in Corner Brook.

Mr. Alteen was a lifelong member in both the Kinsmen Club of Canada and the Knights of Columbus. He was a founding member of the Western Memorial Hospital Foundation and was named Corner Brook's Citizen of the Year in 2013.

Bartlett, who met Mr. Alteen after joining the Kinsmen in 1966, said his friend was generous in ways that were often not meant to be made public.

Despite the bluntness and gruff persona, Bartlett said Mr. Alteen would not hesitate to dip into his own personal resources to help people in need.

"He wouldn't wait to be asked either," said Bartlett. "He would just volunteer and to help them out any way he could . . . He seemed a little bit crusty on the outside, but he was soft as anything on the inside." Mr. Alteen's funeral will take place at the Cathedral of the Most Holy Redeemer on Wednesday morning.

Remembering James John “Jack” Taylor

James John “Jack” Taylor was born on June 22, 1893 at sea in Cupids, Newfoundland, while enroute to Labrador.

Jack enlisted in the Royal Newfoundland Naval Reserves in 1914 during World War One and served as a deep sea diver on the HMS Calypso for two years before leaving the Navy in 1916.

He married Ethel Mugford of Clarke’s Beach, NL on February 9, 1924. Together, they raised a family of three girls and three boys.

Jack passed away on April 10, 1968 at age 75 years, and Ethel passed away on April 5, 1999 at the age of 94 years.

The story of the HMS CALYPSO (FRITON)

The Calypso was launched at the Royal Dock Yard, Chatham in 1883, and was completed in the same year. She was designed by Sir Nathaniel Barnaby and laid down in 1881. She and her sister ship, the Calliope, were the last of the British Sailing Corvettes.

The Calypso spent all her active sea-going days with the Sailing Training Squadron, composed of four Corvettes, sailing out to the West Indies for the autumn and winter months and cruising in Northern waters during the summer.

The Sailing Training Squadron was abolished in 1898 or 1899, and in 1902 the old Calypso made her last voyage across the Atlantic to become the drill and depot ship for the renowned Royal Newfoundland Naval Reserve. Shortly after her arrival at St. John’s, she was stripped of her masts and yards, and the upper deck was roofed over to make a suitable training space for the winter months, when the Naval Reserve men came in for their annual training course.

During the 1914-18 war, the Calypso trained and sent overseas several hundred seamen to join the Fleet – many lost their lives in action against the enemy. Some went to reinforce the Canadian Navy, which at the time was not doing too well in the way or recruiting.

On February 15, 1916, the Calypso’s name was changed to Briton by Admiralty order so as to make her original name available for a new cruiser. After the war, in 1919, the Royal Newfoundland Naval Reserve was disbanded, and in 1922 the old ship was sold to Mr. A. H. Murray for use as a storage hulk for coal and salt at St. John’s, and in 1952 she was removed to Lewisporte where she now remains.

Remembering John A. James

John A. James was born in Forteau, NL. He joined the Merchant Navy during World War One with the Newfoundland I Royal Naval Reserve. He served on the Trawler VIVANTI, which had not been heard from since March 7, 1917. John is presumed to have drowned.

The following note from The Colonial Secretary, dated March 16, 1917, was sent to John's mother to advise her of the tragic news:

Dear Madam,

It was with extreme regret that the Government learned, through Commander MacDermott, that the Admiralty had advised that your son, John James, was missing and believed drowned, having been seaman on the Trawler VIVANTI which ship has not been heard of since March 7th.

Permit me to express to you on behalf of the Government, as well as for myself, the sincerest sympathy in your time of sorrow. We all feel the loss of loved ones, but there is, no doubt, some comfort to you in the thought that he has done his utmost. We are proud of our sailors – there are no men anywhere can beat them, and they came forward loyally at the call of King and Country. We are equally proud of the noble and unselfish fathers and mothers who so readily gave their sons when the call of Duty came. Your brave lad has won his place on the glorious Roll of Honour and his name will be held in fragrant memory by all his fellowcountrymen. When Peace comes again to his earth and the War Flags are furled, in the midst of your sorrow, there will be the thought that your dear boy bore no inconsiderable part in bringing about that much to be desired end. May the Great Father of all give to you his presence and consolation.

*With my fullest sympathy,
Believe me to be,
J. R. Bennett
Colonial Secretary.*

The Silent Navy

The Silent Navy

Raymond Doucette RCN, 1943

*You can brag of your glorious Army
And glorious Air Force too.
But did you ever think of the Navy
And the job they have to do.*

*No sane man ever sails those seas
And expects to live it through
So thank your stars
You have fool tars
Who wear the Navy Blue.*

*We don't fly over your city
Or march with a heavy pack
But the Navy brings you there
And the Navy brings you back.*

*No frantic crowds to see us off
No commotion in the town
And when we're lost in action
It's just another ship gone down.*

*There's no more than a whistle
As we shove off silently to sea
To protect your precious merchant fleet
From the ruthless enemy.*

*We face the cold Atlantic
The ice bergs snow and sleet
No matter what the sacrifice
For us there's no retreat.*

*We're tossed about by the angry seas
And battered by the run
Bombed by enemy aircraft
And blasted by their gun.*

*It's freezing on the upper deck
And hot as hell below
We're seasick, bruised and battered
But the convoy must go through.*

*We guard your vital food supplies
Your planes and guns and tanks
For your existence over there
To Merchant Boys give thanks.
Give credit to your Army
And Air Force where it's due
But we'd like you to remember
That you have a Navy too.*
